

The program processes above two cases cases1/2 and case3 differently. In cases1/2 the program doesn't know the data comes from a file or keyboard and of file the program doesn't know the filename. In case3 the program knows the argument is a file so it appends the extension and opens the file for reading